Preventing conflict how to prevent and mediate and how to prevent and mediate workplace conflicts. This is a 2-hour session that is designed to help employees, managers, and supervisors learn a range of strategies in managing and preventing conflict in the workplace. The goal of this program is to teach employees, managers, and supervisors how to identify, prevent, and mediate conflicts, and to develop skills to help them manage conflict in the workplace. The goal of this program is to teach employees, managers, and supervisors how to identify, prevent, and mediate conflicts, and to develop skills to help them manage conflict in the workplace. Through our peer mediated program or our employee mediated program, we help City employees learn mediation and conflict resolution skills. Our goal is to provide employees with the skills and knowledge they need to effectively manage conflict in the workplace and to create a more positive and productive work environment. Our goal is to provide employees with the skills and knowledge they need to effectively manage conflict in the workplace and to create a more positive and productive work environment. Peer mediation involves a process where a neutral third party listens to the concerns of all parties involved in a conflict and helps to facilitate a resolution. The mediator does not take sides or make decisions but helps to facilitate the process of communication and understanding between the parties. Our trained mediators use a variety of techniques to help parties reach a mutually acceptable resolution.
